

Night Song At Amalfi

Poem by Amy Lowell

Composed by Donovan Colan

Diamond noteheads - "windchimes" - indicate a sporadic, irregular striking of the keys, similar to the gesture shown above. The dynamics, frequency, and tone of these attacks should reflect the character of the section and are left to the performer's discretion.

♩ ≈ 80 *

Piano

pp mp mf

Alto

p mf

I asked the heaven of stars

6 rit. a tempo

Pno.

mp p pp

trailing off...

A.

mp p

What I should give my love It answered me with silence

11 rit. a tempo

Pno.

ppp pp

A.

pp p mf

Silence above I asked the darkened sea

* Diamond noteheads = "Windchimes": play keys spontaneously - quasi bisbigliando

16 trailing off...

Pno. mp mf mp p

A. mp

Down where the fish-ers go

21

Pno. pp ppp

A. p pp

It answered me with silence Silence a-bove

26

Pno.

A. 3 3 3

Oh, I could give him weep-ing Or I could give him song

29

Pno.

A.

But how can I give silence My whole life long?